When: 9 a.m. - 12 p.m., Friday, Sept. 14, 2012

Where: Four Parkwood Crossing Conference Center
500 East 96th St., Indianapolis, IN 46240

Who: Representatives from medical mission organizations in the central Indiana region.

Duke Realty, Fame Medical Missions and TriMedx Foundation announce the inaugural Indianapolis Medical Mission Summit, a small meeting of various front-line medical mission organizations with the singular mission of fostering broader collaborations by organizations in the central Indiana region on Friday, Sep. 14 from 9 a.m. - 12 p.m.

The summit format is structured to allow each attending organization the opportunity to share details about their individual project initiatives. The anticipated result of the summit will be a greater awareness and collaboration between Central Indiana organizations delivering medical relief efforts around the world.

The summit is expected to attract representatives from nearly 40 central Indiana medical mission organizations, including:

- African Community Center
- Amaranth Popper Project
- Ampath
- BSA Lifestructures
- BUV
- Christ Church Cathedral
- CMF International
- Community Health Network
